

EverFi Overview

EverFi creates interactive, web-based learning courses to teach students critical skills at no cost to schools. For the past four years, EverFi and the Louisiana Department of Education have worked together to teach students the importance of Financial Literacy. To date, over 200 schools and over 30,000 students across the state have used EverFi's courses.

In addition to Financial Literacy, this year, students in the Journey to Careers course will be using Ignition – Digital Responsibility to learn about using technology and the internet responsibly, as well as focusing on issues like cyber bullying, the viral nature of the web, and managing one's digital footprint.

No Cost to Schools

Thanks to substantial partnerships with foundations, institutions, and companies who care about their communities, EverFi's learning courses are completely free to schools. Click here to learn more about our partnerships.

More than just Financial Literacy

EverFi is more than just Financial Literacy. We now have the following learning courses available to you and your school at no cost to you. Contact us (info below) to get access, or click below to learn more.

- Ignition – Digital Responsibility
- Radius – Math and Coding
- Vault – Understanding Money
- AlcoholEDU for High School
- Commons – Digital Town Square

Getting Started with EverFi's Learning Courses

To get started with one or more of EverFi's learning courses, download this Quick Start Guide, or contact EverFi's team of former teachers. Additional contact information below.

We are a team of former teachers that are here to help you use EverFi's courses to their fullest extent. Please contact Maria Vibandor (maria@everfi.com) or Trey Medbery (trey@everfi.com), or click here.